

Indiana Coalition
for Public Education—
Monroe County
presents...

The Power of Public Education

Shaping a Diverse, Equitable, and Civil Democracy

How can public education still serve to shape a diverse, equitable, and civil society? In these times of fractious discourse and contentious tribalism, what role can public schools play in leveling the playing field and bringing us back together? Join us for Part 1 of our series, "The Power of Public Education." Three experienced, award-winning educators speak to the issue, with a moderated discussion to follow.

Panelists

Keith Barton Professor of Curriculum and Instruction at Indiana University

Elizabeth Sweeney English and ESL teacher at Bloomington High School North

Quentin Wheeler-Bell Associate Professor of Philosophy of Education at Indiana University

Moderated by Bradley Levinson, Indiana Coalition for Public Education – Monroe County board member

Sponsored by the Indiana University School of Education Foundations of Education Program

Monday, February 28, 2022, 7:00 P.M.

Monroe County Public Library Auditorium

303 E Kirkwood Ave, Bloomington, Indiana 47408

www.keepeducationpublic.org

 @ICPE_MC

 @ICPEMC

 contact@keepeducationpublic.org